Date With All-American Costs $2.50

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP)—A date with all-American football star Billy Austin is worth only $2.50

The handsome Rutgers University tailback was knocked down for that price Friday night in a fund-raising auction at Douglass College, the girls' undergraduate division at Rutgers.

And the high bidder wasn't even a Douglass student. She was Miss Marion Moore, director of the Douglass student centre.

"I thought I would help bid up the price," said Miss Moore, a thirtyish brunette. "I never thought I'd win."

Roaring Game Family Industry

This Year's Brier Bears Olson Flavor

By GERRY McNEIL

EDMONTON (CP) — Olson will be a big name in Dominion curling championships in Quebec City March 2 to 6.

Curlers from 10 provinces will play on ice made by E. B. (Ole) Olson, 70. Their rocks, many sharpened by Ole, will be delivered from rubber hacks developed by Olson.

If a rock hangs doubtful, the Olson curling measure will decide whether it counts.

While Ole for the third year keeps his experienced eye on the ice, his son Herb will represent Alberta in the bonspiel.

Herb won the provincial crown after taking the northern Alberta title with three straight victories over Matt Baldwin, 1958 Canadian champion. Does that feat, rated sensational by curling experts, raise the Olson confidenc?

"We're looking for 10 tough games at Quebec," answered Herb in an interview. "The minute you think you have an easy game, you lose."

The husky, 26-year-old blond says his rink will switch styles to fit the opponent—always watching for "the big end—the break of the game."

Interjected Ole: "The breaks have a lot to do with it—you can't pick a favorite in curling."

Herb's rink comprises third Barry Coleman, 22, of Lethbridge and 29-year-old twins Merv and George Dufresne of Loverna, Sask., at lead and second. All now live in Edmonton. Barry is employed by Olson Curling Supplies, the family business.

The business began in 1913-14 when Ole learned to make curling ice at rinks in Kindersley, Sask., near where he farmed. He has won numerous trophies. He has skipped a rink to victory over Herb's three times this season.

However, his genius has been for the mechanics of the game. Ole developed the standard rubber-mold hack in 1939 after he missed three shots in a game because of a shallow hack. Before then, hacks were simply holes chopped in the ice.

In 1940, he developed a standard steel-gauge rock sharpener. It matches rocks perfectly in pitch and diameter even though matched rocks from Scotland often vary as much as three-eights of an inch.

The latest Olson innovation is an ice-shaver — a 2½-horsepower machine which resembles a lawnmower and is used to maintain a thin, level surface on curling ice. The Olsons have sold 45 of the $350 machines this winter.

The backyard workshop also turns out cutters and pebblers, flooding tubes and reconditioned rocks and parts.

Dickie Moore Blows Hot As Canadiens Near Title

Dickie Moore scored one goal and set up four others last night to move out in front in the National Hockey League scoring race as Montreal Canadiens reduced their "magic number" to four with a 6-0 victory over Boston Bruins.

Moore's five points left him with a total of 69, three ahead of teammate Bernie Geoffrion, who had one goal and an assist. Andy Bathgate of New York, who led the field until yesterday's play, went pointless as the Rangers tied Toronto, 1-1, and dropped into a third-place tie with Ed Litzenberger of the Chicago Black Hawks. Litzenberger got one assist while the Hawks were losing to Detroit, 5-2, in an afternoon game.

	GP	W	L	T	F	A	Pts
Montreal	57	32	13	12	208	117	76
Chicago	58	23	22	13	165	168	59
Boston	58	24	26	8	166	181	56
New York	57	21	25	11	156	171	53
Detroit	56	22	28	6	133	163	50
Toronto	56	19	27	10	139	161	48

Yesterday's scores: Boston 0 at Montreal 6; New York 1 at Toronto 1; Chicago 2 at Detroit 5.

Next games: tonight, Montreal at New York; Toronto at Chicago; Boston at Detroit.

The streaking Canadiens won their sixth straight game to pad their lead to 17 points over the Black Hawks, and now need any combination of four wins or four Chicago defeats to clinch their second straight NHL title and their third in four years.

Once again it was the goaltending of Jacques Plante and great work by the hot Habs line of Moore, Jean Beliveau and Marcel Bonin. Beliveau and Bonin each scored twice. Moore, who won the NHL scoring crown last season, scored his 32nd goal.

It was the second straight shutout and the ninth of the season for Plante, who made 31 stops. Plante has given up only five goals in six games while the Canadiens have fired 31.

The Red Wings, criticized for lax play in the past weeks, looked like the Detroit powerhouse of old against Chicago. Gordie Howe scored his 26th goal, and singles were scored by rookies Charlie Burns and Len Lunde, Nick Mickoski and Alex Delvecchio. Tod Sloan got both Chicago goals.

Howe was hit on the head with a stick and suffered a six-inch cut shortly after scoring his goal. However, he returned to action to collect an assist later.

At Toronto, the Leafs kept their slim hopes of a playoff berth alive by tying the Rangers. They trail Detroit by two points and are five behind the fourth-place Rangers.

Gerry Ehman's long shot midway in the final period gave the Leafs the draw. Camille Henry had scored his 19th goal of the season to send the Rangers out in front in the opening period.

Bathgate had two good chances to win for the Rangers and snap their six-game losing streak. On a third-period power play he took two shots with goalie Ed Chadwick clearly beaten, and hit the cross bar and goal post.

Professional Soccer League Finds Little Support Here

By GARTH WILTON

Proposals to end "shamateurism" in the Pacific Coast Summer Soccer League have been accorded a cool reception in Victoria soccer circles.

Coined to describe the North American phenomenon of amateurs who play for pay, "shamateurism" has long been rampant in the ranks of the summer league. Players were either paid outright or shared in whatever profits the club made.

But unlike other forms of "shamateurism" practiced in this country, notably hockey, the clubs have had no control over their players from year to year.

MUCH BICKERING

As a result, poaching of players has become prevalent, resulting in numerous quarrels and much bickering between league teams.

Another point of contention has been players who play in both winter and summer leagues. This, the coast league clubs claim, makes them "stale" and unable to perform at peak efficiency.

To curb these twin evils, a non-amateur form, to be issued to leagues by the Canadian Soccer Football Association, has been proposed.

RELEASE NEEDED

Under terms of this form, players would be "owned" by the club. They would not be able to play for another non-amateur club or an amateur club unless given their release.

Direct transfer of an amateur to a non-amateur club would cost the non-amateur club $100.

If the summer league should embrace such a setup, how would it affect Victoria Evcos and the Victoria and District Football League?

Evcos, who will be strictly amateur, would probably find it difficult to find players willing to tie themselves to the coast league club when they are only playing for fun.

Victoria's younger players, who as yet lack the experience to make the jump to coast league soccer, would also be penalized by being restricted to summer league play. Valuable experience they might pick up playing in the district league will be lost to them.

"It might be all right in a few years, but not now," was the opinion of veteran Hal Holroyd. "Vancouver has more younger players, it wouldn't hurt them but it would ruin us."

DEAD AGAINST IT

Bill Abbott expressed agreement: "It wouldn't work. It would kill the district league and prevent our kids from developing. I would be dead against it."

"If they're going to treat the players like professionals, they should pay them like professionals," was Taffy Jones' comment.

Willie Hamilton, coach of the Evcos, said he didn't think the proposed setup would be "fair to the players."

"We aren't in a position to pay our players so how can we ask them to tie themselves down?" he asked.

LITTLE SUPPORT

So it seems if Vancouver's "shamateurs" want to return to reality and call themselves non-amateurs, which, of course, they already are, they won't get much support from Victoria.

Kickers in Second Round After Shading Ladysmith

Victoria Kickers advanced to the second round of Province Cup plays yesterday, edging Ladysmith, 2-1, at Royal Athletic Park.

Despite their victory, Kickers looked like the second best team performing in the park.

Ladysmith completely dominated play in the first half and held a territorial edge in the second, although Kickers showed more life in the final 45 minutes.

Time and again Ladysmith worked the ball into scoring position but couldn't hit the goal. When they did, Leo Eisler, the Kicker goaltender, was unbeatable.

TWO CHANCES

In the second half, Dick Nellestijn missed two golden opportunities bofre beating Carmichael to give Kickers a 1-0 lead.

Antol Major took Hank DeBruin's pass and beat the Ladysmith goaltender with a ground shot to make it 2-0 late in the second half.

Ron Sage got the prettiest goal of the game for Ladysmith, scoring on a header after taking a perfect cross from Dick Seward. But with only seconds remaining, it came too late to be of any use to the up-Island club.

Esquimalt and Gorge Hotel meet next Saturday at Royal Athletic Park in a Province Cup semi-final.

In today's Victoria and District Football League games, Gorge Hotel meets Esquimalt at Topaz Park and Brodies Bakery plays Butler Brothers at Heywood Avenue Park.
